STREET NAMES TO BE CHANGED AT BOUNDARY

Motors to be lost in the confusion of streets at the boundary line of Richmond and El Cerrito will soon find their difficulties all straightened out. Streets will bear the same under a plan now being worked out by E. A. Hoffman, city engineer of Richmond and J. H. Peters city attorney of El Cerrito.

Under present conditions with the boundary line approximately 120 feet from San Pablo avenue some of the streets bear one name for the 120 feet in El Cerrito while another designation is given for the major portion in Richmond.

As the street sign on San Pablo avenue at the corner of the 120 feet within the city limit of El Cerrito many street which are in Richmond cannot be located and a great deal of confusion has arisen.

Under the plan of Hoffman and Peters the name of the street will be retained for the street in both cities. In the not far distant future it is expected that both the Richmond and El Cerrito councils will pass ordinances changing the designation of the streets.

UNIFORMS FOR OFFICE GIRLS PLANNED

MEXICO CITY, Jan. 23 (UP)—Both public morality and government efficiency might be bettered by making women employees of federal offices wear uniforms, a few members of the chamber of Deputies have decided.

But they have not had the courage to put their conviction to the test and several deputies who were said to be preparing bills to inaugurate modestly designed responsibility for such a proposal. In the past, the suggested new uniform has been referred to as "clerk house" or "decent or honest dress."

The clothes now worn by government employees are described as "provocative" in some cases. Chief of offices say men associates have difficulty keeping their eyes off their female fellow workers at times when their thought and chances should be elsewhere.

Readers of newspapers in public letters have come into the question of modern morals. In a general way, a few contending, but present examinations in women's dress will be the first step in making women to "become depraved."

GYRO AIRPLANE TESTED IN PARIS

LONDON, Jan. 23.—(U.P.)—Promising tests have been carried out in Paris with the new Isacco helicopter flying machine, an improved model of which has been ordered by the British Air Ministry.

The machine, it is claimed, can ascend and descend absolutely vertically and hover in the air, and is regarded as the next step in the development of aviation initiated by Senor de la Cerva with his autogiro.

The windmill blades of the Isacco machine have been given life and independence by the installation of motors, thus giving it most perfect control, whereas the blades in the Cerva autogiro are left to themselves.

The helicopter now being built for the Air Ministry at the Saunders aircraft works at Cowes, Isle of Wight, is regarded as a great improvement on the one recently tested successfully at Le Bourget.

While the details of the Air Ministry's machine are a closely guarded secret, and may differ considerably from those of the helicopter at Le Bourget, it is known that the latter has a fuselage fitted with an aerodynamic and a large two-bladed windmill each blade being fitted with a motor and airscrew which face in opposite directions thus drawing the windmill round.

The doctor states that goitre is a condition which grows worse with neglect and recommends immediate attention no matter how small the growth may appear. He strongly opposes needless operations. Dr. Rock is the author of a book that tells in a simple way about treating goitre at home. He has published this book at his own expense and will send a copy free to anyone interested. PRICE

How often this little word pops up in the mind and oftentimes is instrumental in prompting one to buy price rather than QUALITY which after all is far more important than price.

There is a tendency towards a misconception of PRICE, after all that enter into the cost of production and distribution create PRICE.

Years of competitive business experience have reduced these important factors in PRICE to a minimum.

You can therefore rest assured that you get only what you pay for. If the price is cheaper the merchandise likewise corresponds, in other words PRICE and QUALITY go hand in hand in successful merchandising.

'ORIGIN OF MAN' DISCUSSED BY SHIPLEY

By CARL H. BENNETT

United Press Staff Correspondent

SAUSILATO, Jan. 23.—(U.P.)—The latest theory on the origin of man, propounded by Austin H. Shipley, of the Smithsonian Institution, "Does not deny universally accepted facts of zoology—of evolution, much less does it seek to discard the theory, or fact, of evolution as a process of nature," Maynard Shipley, noted evolutionist, said here today.

Shipley, founder and president of the Science League of America

Inc., who spent 40 years in studying the development of life through the ages outlined his views in an exclusive interview with the United Press.

Theory Not Questioned

"The main point in discussing Clark's magazine article and interview on the origin of man is that Clark nowhere questions the theory of evolution, as such, least of all has he said in print that man has evolved from an ape-like ancestor, and this anthropoid-like ancestor from an earlier type, the four great apes and to man," Shipley said.

"No zoologist, of course, teaches that man is a descendant of any of the apes now living; only that the four anthropoids and man had a common ancestor who lived some fifteen million years ago."

The evolutionist had read carefully Clark's article in the current number of the quarterly review of biology, filled with scientific terms difficult for a layman to understand, and the interview of a United Press correspondent with Clark in Washington Sunday. Clark had said in the interview that "man is an accident—a freak of nature—appearing on the earth before the dawn of history substantially as he is in the present day."

Life Discussed

Shipley had underlined many paragraphs of the magazine with lead pencil and had marked crosses in the margins. As he sat in the living room of his home, which is near the top of a knoll that arises abruptly from the shore of San Francisco bay, he discussed the development of life from its presumed inception one billion years ago.

While he talked there lay before him a panorama of some of the miracles of modern man—the imposing skyline of San Francisco glistening in the sun, multicolored houses that blended together against a background of the deep blue Oakland foothills, and large vessels passing through the harbor.

'Magical' Ideas

Often Shipley referred to Clark's ideas as "magical," and once he used the word "hokus-pokus," but neither was intended as ridicule. Rather he seemed desirous of defending the theory from what he believed might become misinterpretations and bring trouble.

"Mr. Clark is not known to science as a geologist or as a paleontologist, nor is he an anthropologist or a comparative anatomist," Shipley commented. "He was a working knowledge of insects and birds, but he is perhaps a higher standing as a marine biologist. When it comes to his opinion on problems of evolution among mammals, including the apes and man, fossils, and so-called 'Missing Links,' his views will not be taken seriously by experts in those fields, but will rather provoke only an indulgent smile if he has been correctly quoted."

Approval Seen

"However these eighteenth century views, which hark back to Linnaeus, will undoubtedly receive the unqualified endorsement of that great scientist, the Rev. Dr. William Sunday and other leaders of fundamentalist 'science.' Perhaps some fundamentalist 'university' will now confer the doctor's degree on Mr. Clark."

"At any rate, this newspaper notoriety will be avidly seized upon by the semi-literate contingent in the Texas legislature in their present attempt to pass an anti-evolution law in that great state, modeled upon the Mississippi and Arkansas laws, the Tennessee law having been found to be indirectly voided."

The champion of evolution said that nowhere in the magazine article, or elsewhere in his knowledge, had Clark intimated that man is not descended from an ape-like ancestor or the common stem from which were derived the higher apes and man.

Advance Discussed

"The gorilla, chimpanzee, orangutan and gibbon have never been regarded as ancestral to man, the four anthropoids are offshoots from the common stem, and the gorilla is now most unlike the primitive form—ancestor of the apes and man—while a little gibbon is now nearest in structure to the original type," he explained.

"The great apes are not developing toward man's estate, but away from the common stem, ancestor of the four anthropoid apes and man. In some respects man is nearer the ancestral form than even the gibbon, being less specialized, in some ways, than the latter. Man departs more from the higher apes in the greater size and complexity of the brain, the erect posture, the consequent use of his former forelimbs as hands, which tended to further development of the brain, and hence of intelligence."

SOLO SCORES SECRET ROLL CALLS

WASHINGTON, Jan. 23.—(U.P.)—Senate secrecy in considering nominations for public office was emphasized on and off the senate floor this afternoon after Senator C. C. Dill, Washington Democrat, called the senate's attention to publication yesterday by United Press members of an executive roll call on the nomination of Secretary of Interior Roy O. West.

Dill was joined by Senator Norris, Nebraska Republican, Hoffman, Alabama Democrat, and others who commented on frequent disclosures concerning executive business of the senate.

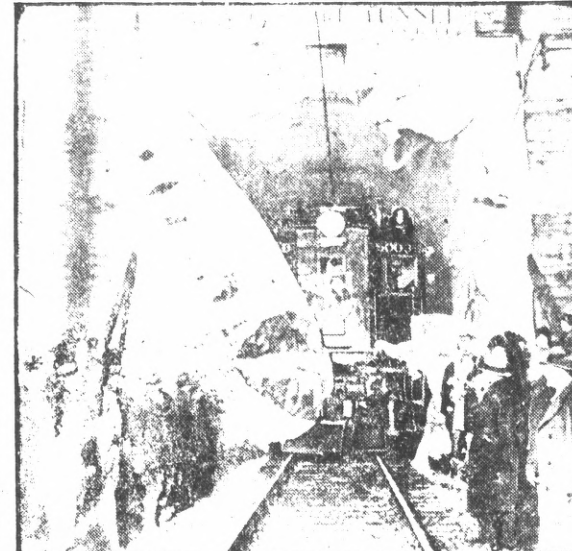

"Publication of this roll call shows that the time has passed when men who have obtained their office in public can ride behind closed doors and conceal their actions so the world will not know what they do," Dill said.

Norris issued a statement later saying the senate's effort to prevent publication of the roll call was contrary to the underlying principle of free government.

Moslem Funeral Car Approved

The automobile gradually changed old traditions in all parts of the world. According to commercial reports received by the California State Automobile association, the committee of Moslem Cemeteries of the Governorate of Cairo, Egypt, has accepted the design of a truck to be used as a hearse for Moslem funerals. The coffin is placed on a platform built over an open truck body on the sides of which are inscribed verses from the Koran. The box of the deceased is placed over the front end of the coffin as is the usual custom. It is believed that this new design of truck, a demonstration of which has recently been officially given, will gradually put an end to the Moslem custom of carrying coffins on the shoulders, particularly for transportation over a long distance.

Richmond Man Prefers Jail To New Arrest

MARTINEZ, Jan. 23.—(U.P.)—Mussio, 20, a Richmond hotel employee, who has been in the county jail on charges of larceny to procure, has served 10 months of the sentence and today was told that he could go free on a parole.

Mussio wants to go free but he is afraid, he told today, that he will be more fed when he leaves the prison, so he has decided to stay in the county jail. Mussio declared last year that he could not provide for his wife and at the same time meet the demands of his brother-in-law for a pony, McManisburg, Ohio. "I light a Lucky and go light on the sweets

That's how I keep in good shape and always feel peppy."

Al Jolson
Farouk comedienne
and star of song.

Something sensible. "Better to light a Lucky whenever you crave fattening sweets." It brings to men the health and vigor that come with avoiding overweight. To women it offers a slender, fashionable figure.

20,679 physicians have stated that Lucky Strike is less irritating to the throat than other cigarettes. Very likely this is due to toasting which removes impurities. This same process, toasting, improves and develops the flavor of the world's finest tobaccos. This means that there is a flavor in Lucky which is a delightful alternative for the things that make you fat. That's why "It's Toasted" is your assurance that there's real health in Lucky—they're good for you!

Keep fit—reach for a Lucky instead of a fattening sweet. That's what many men have been doing for years. They know the evidence of prominent athletes whose favorite cigarette is Lucky Strike and who say Lucky steadies their nerves and do not impair their physical condition.

A reasonable proportion of sugar in the diet is recommended, but the authorities are overwhelming that too many fattening sweets are harmful and that too many such are eaten by the American people. So, for moderation's sake we say:—

"REACH FOR A LUCKY INSTEAD OF A SWEET."

"It's toasted"

No Throat Irritation—No Cough.

DR. BULGIN IN SERMON ON 'UNBELIEF'

A capacity house greeted Dr. E. J. Bulgin, evangelist last night and the evangelist was never in better trim and his singers rendered a number of magnificent pieces. Clarke rendered a gospel solo and Gouley took for his text Matthew 27:46, "If thou be the Son of God come down from the Cross." He said, "When Jesus was hanging upon the cross, there bleeding and dying and agonizing for the sin of the world, for your sin and for my sin, all manner of unbeliever surrounded that cross, the skeptic was there, the agnostic was there, the infidel was there, the materialistic philosopher was there and with one grand chorus, they made the unreasonable and impossible demand of my text, 'Come down from the Cross.'"

"Well, he didn't do it because he couldn't do it and yet he was God, for that was he born and for that purpose came He into the world. Had he come down from the cross to satisfy those skeptics, he would not have fulfilled the prophecy and therefore, he could not have been the Son of God."

Dr. Bulgin then dealt with three logical propositions: 1. Unbelief is unreasonable because it requires proof of a fact that has already been sufficient to prove it. It would be unreasonable to make a demand on Christianity, to spend its time, proving a thing that already has sufficient proof. 2. Unbelief is unreasonable because it requires that kind of proof that renders it a moral impossibility with God. God can't tell a lie to prove that it is God, such would prove that he was not God, and the third proposition, unbelief is unreasonable because it requires that kind of proof and a sufficient amount that would render it impossible to doubt and hence salvation by faith is out of the question.

You cannot have faith where there is no possibility to doubt. Faith puts substance into that which I hope for and gives the assurance of the unseen reality. You show faith in your doctor when you take his medicine and wait for the results, which is the cure of your disease, you show faith in your bank by placing your money in it. The farmer puts seed in the soil he puts substance into it, you do the same thing when you buy a railroad ticket, you put hard substance of cash into the ticket. If men would show as much faith in God and put him to the test, we could save the nation."

"It is as necessary for men to be in the right relationship to God, for the proper maintenance of society as it is for this earth to be in right relation with the sun. One of the damning sins of America today, we are so busy making a living, we haven't time to live. The finer qualities of man's soul and mind are spent on making the almighty dollar, music, art and the home as well as the church are suffering as a result of this 'cupid commercialism.'"

Inter-County Tunnel Route Plans Mapped

ers. The tunnel will provide a new route between Alameda and Contra Costa counties. A report of the meeting will be filed with the county superior court.

The route selection marked an important step in the tunnel proceedings with Fitzpatrick and his associates preparing for an early start of the construction of the tunnel. Alameda commissioners will meet in Oakland tomorrow to decide upon the route of the Alameda side of the bore and connecting road.

The tunnel has to be constructed at the head of the Shepard Canyon and will be about one quarter mile south of the Eastport tunnel of the Sacramento Northern railway.

From the east portal it will be necessary to construct a mile of highway to make a connection with the present Redwood Canyon road.

This one mile stretch of road will be one of the costliest for its length ever built in the state as gigantic cuts and fills will have to be made. Its connection with the Redwood Canyon road will afford easy access to the Moraga valley and the St. Mary's college districts, from Oakland.

32 RESCUED ON ATLANTIC LINER

board the America at 10:10 p. m. Report brief.

Tersley in the manner of men who watch from the bridges of Atlantic liners, Captain Fried gave his company only the naked outline of one of the most gallant marine rescues in recent years—probably approaching in difficulty his rescue of the crew of the freighter Antonio three years ago tonight.

It was in that rescue made against great odds, that the name Fried was first written boldly in the story of a rescue at sea. And tonight Captain Fried was celebrating the anniversary in a grimly peculiarly suitable manner.

Tankers in Distress.

The America, carrying 464 passengers, swung from its regular course towards New York in mid-afternoon yesterday when the distress call of the little Italian freighter was broadcast.

Meanwhile, the American tanker Denedaika, which called for help Tuesday noon about the same hour the tiny Italian freighter sent out distress calls, was beating a slow trail towards Bermuda and the British freighter Teesbridge, which was sinking off Cape Race Monday, was given up for lost after a fruitless search.

The Dollar liner, President Harrison, and the German Lloyd freighter, Vorek—both of which went to all the Denedaika and the Florida—had searched the position given in radio calls by the Florida and failed to find the battered vessel. Both gave up the search when they learned that Captain Fried had established radio communication with the Florida and that the Denedaika was making her way to port as the fierce storm abated slightly.

Memorial Garden To Burbank In Capital Planned

SACRAMENTO, Jan. 23.—California is to further recognize the work of Luther Burbank by erecting a Burbank Memorial at the state fair grounds in Sacramento. Plans for the garden were outlined at a meeting of the State Agricultural Society by William Vortriede, developer of the botanical gardens in State Capitol park.

The memorial garden will be made up entirely of the plant wizard's creations in horticulture, floriculture and agriculture. "Burbank was California's most illustrious citizen in his chosen field and his fame extended around the world," said Vortriede. "So it is fitting that his work be given permanent recognition in the capital of the state."

Vortriede will complete his layout this year and expects to begin the installation of the Memorial Garden early in 1930.

In the meantime Vortriede has been authorized by the Agricultural society to proceed immediately with a comprehensive plan for beautifying the state fair grounds with the planting of trees shrubs and flowers. This work was ordered in view of the 75th annual State Fair and Western States Exposition to be held in Sacramento August 31st to September 9th, this year.

KEYES TAKES STAND IN DEFENSE

zoff in 1913 when the latter entered a complaint at the district attorney's office, then headed by Thomas Lee Woolwine. He did not see Getzoff again until 1925 when the tailor again appeared on office business. From that time on they were friends socially, he declared.

Keyes denied further that he had ever had any gambling debts or that he had more than a nodding acquaintance with Jacob Berman before or during the time Berman was on trial as a Julian defendant.

Berman, indicted in the present case, turned state's evidence and was freed. He charged that he had paid Keyes thousands of dollars and was "tired" of being drained.

Three on Trial

Only Keyes, Ben Getzoff and Ed Rosenberg, the latter a Julian defendant, remain on trial. Jack Rosenberg, brother of Ed, Dave Getzoff, son of Ben, and Charles Riemer, once an investigator for Keyes, were dropped from the case yesterday upon defense plea of dismissal.

Keyes declared that during the Julian prosecutions he had made every effort to aid the Post office department in its investigation of the case and has opened all records to federal agents.

Advise Court

An address to the court, made in his triple role of attorney-witness-defendant, Keyes spoke calmly.

"I am charged in this indictment with so conducting a case that it would bring about acquittals or dismissals," he said. "I am trying to show that at the inception of the case I took steps to insure a conviction."

"I intend to show that others might have been made defendants in the case but that it was arranged to have them testify for the people since conviction otherwise would have been impossible. I also desired to use Rosenberg that way."

He then testified concerning his seeking dismissal of Rosenberg. The state claims Rosenberg bribed Keyes to ask for a dismissal and later to insure conduct of the trial to make acquittal certain. The defense contends that Keyes wanted Rosenberg's aid against the others.

Richmond, Stege Railroad Rates To Be Reduced

minimum $7.20 per car. Between Stege and wharf tracks at Point Orient on the belt line the rate will be 45 cents a ton, minimum $11 per car. Between Stege and tracks serving Blake Bros. quarry the rate will be 54 cents a ton, minimum $11 per car. The rates will amount to a reduction of approximately one-half of the present ones.

Ways and means of financing further dredging of the turning basin on the inner harbor, following the failure of the river and harbors appropriation bill to pass in congress, will be discussed by the harbor committees of the chamber of commerce and the city council next Wednesday night. Dredging work is necessary to permit the successful operation of industries on the inner harbor the directors declared. The committees will study the project with a view of finding means of financing it.

When the chamber meets on Feb. 6, traffic men will be present to discuss the rate situation at Portland and points north as it affects Richmond.

Will be a most prosperous year for Richmond, and one of great activity industrially and in the building line.

Harbor development will reach such a stage that deep water will be available for the largest vessels.

What Is Coming

Ford Motor Company will start on its new assembling plant the latter part of the year.

The Mintzer tract of nearly 200 acres will be developed so that industries will be afforded choice locations.

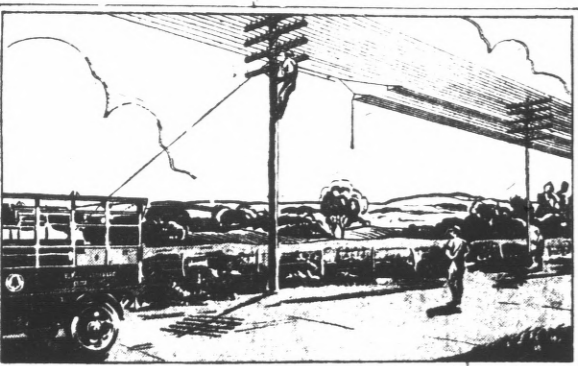

The two new harbor units of the City of Richmond and the Parr Terminal Corporation, costing over $500,000 will be completed next July and be ready to receive cargo.

There is much activity at the new plant of the California Spray Chemical company, and the plant will be operating shortly after January 1st.

All plans for the new factory of the California Vitreous Porcelain company are complete, and work on the buildings to be erected on Kearney street will start in about two months.

There are many other things in the wind, for 1929, details of which will be given you later.

The U. S. A. is only a few minutes wide

THE Bell System is ever busy reducing the width of America and the distance between cities. For example, in the last five years 350 major improvements, as well as thousands of others whose aggregate importance mounts high, have been made in telephone central office equipment.

Improved operating practices have eliminated the necessity of your "hanging up" and being called back in 95 per cent of toll and long distance calls, adding new speed and ease to out of town calling. You hold the wire and the operator does the rest.

Since New Year's Day, 1927, the average time for completing all out of town calls has been cut 35 per cent and at the same time the per cent of error has been further materially reduced.

There is no standing still in the Bell System. Better and better telephone service at the lowest cost is the goal. Present improvements constantly going into effect are but the foundation for the future's greater service.
